Approached town

Resident angry at Sturdi Wood mill dust

By Steve Fletcher

James Dryden thinks the Sturdi Wood plant was built too close to town for his own comfort.

And he says many of his neighbors feel the same way.

Dryden, who resides on 56th Street, has been demanding action to stop the emittance of sawdust and flying ashes from the mill.

"You go into a cafe and there are non-smoking sections, yet I have to live in this."

He said he's worried the dust may be causing a health hazard in addition to the mess.

"Nobody can tell you what's coming out of that thing," he says.

Dryden would like the air examined to find out what exactly the dust contains.

He has written a letter to town council about his concerns and has also had officials from Alberta Environment come down to monitor the situation.

Mayor Bob Mayhew responded with a letter stating the town is working with Pelican Spruce Mills and Alberta Environment in an effort to alleviate the problem.

But Dryden maintains he'll go right to the top (the provincial cabinet) if nothing is done soon.

"They can try to run me out of town, but I don't think they're big enough," he said of town council.

Meanwhile, another resident who lives near the mill says he will probably start a petition encompassing the entire town to get an adequate sampling of opinion about the pollution concerns.

Lorne Woynarowich of 43rd Avenue said he recognizes the economic importance of the mill to Drayton Valley, but would like to see some form of pollution control put in place.

The dust fumes probably don't constitute a health problem, Woynarowich said, but the noise is "excessive," especially at night.

His own informal study has concluded that the mill's noise exceeds ERCB guidelines that are imposed on gas and oil wells.

Mixed bag

The Edmonton Weather office is predicting a mixed bag for the area during this first week of summer.

Tuesday will be mainly cloudy with highs in the 17 C range and lows around 5 C.

Wednesday's forecast is for mostly cloudy skies with a 60 per cent of showers. A high of 18 C and a low of 7 C are predicted.

Thursday and Friday will be mostly sunny with highs on both days around 19 C and lows near 7 C.

A 30 per cent chance of showers is expected.

Another mill?

Clark to attend Friday's opening

Twenty-one months ago the sod was turned for the new standboard plant in Drayton Valley.

This Friday, the $55 million plant and $15 million sawmill will be officially opened.

It's also the day the sawmill, which is expected to turn out approximately 400,000 board feet of wood per day, is expected to go into operation.

One of the special guests attending Friday's opening will be Yellowhead MP Joe Clark.

Later in the day Clark is scheduled to meet with members of town council and the chamber executive.

The sod for the new plant was turned on Friday, Oct. 4, 1985. Mayor Bob Mayhew, MLA Shirley Cripps and Sturdi Wood boss Al Owen shared in the event.

"The arrival of Sturdi Wood is the biggest thing for Drayton Valley since 1953 when oil was discovered," Cripps said at the opening. Mayor Mayhew called it a tremendous shot in the arm.

Since that day, the main plant has been constructed, the sawmill has been added and work started last week on a second smoke stack. There's also speculation that another mill will be added, south of the sawmill.

Fuson elected at convention

Fire chief Sheldon Fuson has been elected first vice-president of the Alberta Association of Fire Chiefs.

The fire chiefs held their annual convention in Fort McMurray last week.

Fuson was the association's 2nd vice president last year.

As second-in-line to the president, Fuson will sit on various committees, including the resolutions committee for up-coming conferences.

Last week's convention dealt with several thorny issues, said Fuson.

At the top of the list was a debate over the legality of backyard fireworks in Alberta.

Fuson noted that some delegates were opposed to the low-hazard goods, while others believed strict regulations should be established.

Some thought it would be better to have the fireworks legal, but well-regulated, rather than to have to deal with them coming in from B.C. and Saskatchewan, Fuson said.

The issue has been tabled until next year, allowing time for a committee to acquire more information.

Another committee was set up to look into the standardization of fire trucks throughout the province.

In other news at the convention, the fire chiefs also heard of a re-alignment in the fire commissioner's office, due to retirements from within the Department of Labor.

Gordon Wilson of Brooks was re-elected president of the association.

July 1

Seatbelt law looms

By Steve Fletcher

Starting July 1, it will cost you $25 if you're caught without your seatbelt on.

Local RCMP haven't yet received word from K Division about any initial leniency, but Transportation Minister Al Adair feels that none should be granted.

There's no point setting a date if it isn't going to be enforced, Adair said last week.

Delivery vehicles travelling less than 40 km, taxi drivers with fares, and those with medical reasons for not buckling up will be exempt from the new law.

Bus and truck drivers will be required to wear their seatbelts.

Ross Hogg, director of safety for Alberta Transportation, told The Western Review his office has been receiving several hundred phone calls per day over the last 10 days requesting information on the new law.

"Most want to know how it applies to them specifically," said Hogg.

He added the law states that all those with factory-equipped seatbelts in their vehicles must wear them.

Owners of older models without seatbelts don't have to worry about the new law, Hogg noted.

John Ozdan, the County of Parkland's assistant transportation coordinator, said school bus drivers won't be exempt from wearing seatbelts.

Buses in Drayton Valley were built no later than 1976, so all should be equipped with the belts, Ozdan added.

The government plans on spending $500,000 on an advertising campaign to inform Albertans of the new law.

The campaign, which starts this week, will entail regular television, radio and newspaper ads, as well as an informational pamphlet to be distributed to every household in Alberta.

Adair announced that the campaign's slogan will be "Buckle up and Brighten up" — also encouraging motorists to turn on their headlights whenever they're out on the road.

New lights

Overhead lights have been installed on highways 22 and 620, which is the Violet Grove/Lodgepole corner south of the town limits. TransAlta installed the lights last week.

New road?

The town is looking into the possibility of connecting 50th Street south (by Sekura Auctions) west to tie in with 34th Avenue which runs in front of the Sturdi Wood mill. The photo, taken from 50th Street shows 34th Avenue in the distance. Councillor Howard Olsen says nothing is final and the idea is in the planning stages. One of the major concerns is the truck traffic such a road would create.

Opinions

Smoking section

Frank Maddock's lead should be followed by others

Frank Maddock high school is taking steps to accommodate their smokers.

An area outside the school designed by the students union will be available in September.

Instead of just saying NO SMOKING, which has happened in some areas, the school is recognizing the habit, good or bad, and offering the students and teachers if they wish, an area of their own.

The lead being shown by Frank Maddock High is one we'd like to see other schools follow.

At one other school in Drayton Valley, the students are chased off the property to do their smoking elsewhere. In many cases, this turns out to be people's front lawn or sidewalk.

People will always SMOKE.

So instead of insisting they quit for the good of their health, why not provide facilities. Drinking isn't good for one's health...but society still provides a lot of drinking outlets.

Ski club could see record members

The Drayton Valley Ski Club could see a record membership when they start making snow in November.

The club's announcement that they are purchasing snow-making equipment has many skiers thinking about getting the boards out.

And, if any one club in town deserves the support...it's the ski club.

These past four winters have been very frustrating to say the least.

Besides expanding the chalet, purchasing more rental equipment and buying additional land, Old Man Winter held off on the snow. The hill only opened seven days last year, five the previous year and three days in '83.

Because the local hill wasn't open, many skiers took their boards to the mountains, supported other hills or just simply put their skis in moth balls and took up another sport.

But, it's apparent since the Royal Canadian Legion generously donated $7,000 to the ski club to get their fund-raising drive off the ground, that anyone who has skied or even thought of taking it up...is eagerly awaiting the upcoming ski season.

Minor soccer association needs coaches

The Drayton Valley Minor Soccer Association needs HELP.

Some of their teams are without coaches, and as a result, the players are spending more time socializing than learning the game.

This is particularly true with the 12-year-olds, many of them girls. Originally, organizers hoped to have a girls' league. When that didn't materialize, co-ed teams were organized.

Besides playing without proper coaches, the girls are playing their games the width of the field instead of the length. I agree that little kids can play their games across the field — but not 12 year olds.

While some of their teams have gone without coaches, we are fortunate for the other volunteer coaches who come out faithfully to work with the kids.

One of the most talked about sports stories is Wayne Gretzky's hint of retirement.

However, while Gretzky isn't saying it, we believe he is telling the people who run the NHL, that he's not interested in playing anymore, unless the game is cleaned up.

This past season saw a major brawl at the international level and numerous incidents in the NHL. But for the most part, nothing is being done.

Do you think Gretzky is just tired of the NHL not doing anything?

Writer asked for a plebiscite only — commission

 This letter was originally sent to the Alberta Cattle Commission. Mr. Martin wants to share it with other farmers.*

Dear Sir,

Thank you for your letter re - my signing of a petition, in which you state I have signed against the cattle commission.

This is not necessarily so. The petition merely asked for a plebiscite as to whether the cattle commission should be continued. That would give the producers some say, as we had none when this body was organized, and we have had none since.

As to your suggestion to become more involved, I have filled out nomination forms and got my nominee elected as a delegate. Also, at three consecutive annual meetings held in our zone I made a resolution and had it passed, that we have the check-off for the Farmers' Union instead of just the cattle segment. Therefore all farmers would be involved, instead of one sector riding on the backs of another sector.

When our delegate came back from the convention, I asked what had happened to our resolution, the answer was — we cannot honor or even discuss that resolution as there were only 23 people at that meeting, and as near as I can figure it out that was the only time it was ever allowed on the floor. So it seems to me that the only time I am allowed to be heard is when it is check off-time. So if the only way I can be heard is by signing petitions, I will continue to do so.

You mention a few areas of what you refer to as success. One area you forgot to mention was your involvement and the success you had in abolishing the Crow Rate, therefore saddling the grain farmer with a few extra million dollars annually.

If in fact, you have done so much to aid the average producer, I would think you would welcome a plebiscite, instead of fearing it. I would suggest that you also sign this petition, and get this thing on the road in a democratic fashion.

Yours sincerely,
Thomas Martin

Skateboard track?

Dear Editor,

In response to a letter in last week's paper about kids on skateboards or bicycles, I would like to say that a letter to the town asking for an acre for skateboarding be set up for these kids.

It is a fast growing sport and I totally agree that it is very dangerous for these kids to be on the street.

The town has put up many other sport facilities for baseball, softball, football, soccer, basketball, swimming and many others and I'm sure with enough interest shown they would not hesitate to build a skateboard track.

Thank you,
Danny Thompson

Reunion after years of separation

By Megan Parker

After 41 years Linda Thompson was reunited with her sister.

Last month Thompson stepped off the plane at London's Heathrow Airport.

A mixture of apprehension, fear and nervousness fell over her.

Her son Danny and wife Brenda remained at her side.

"I was so afraid of meeting her (Molly); I'd led such a different life in Canada," Thompson explained.

The tears welled up in both their eyes when their glances met, they'd recognised each other immediately.

"She (Molly) looked like my mother standing there. There's an old saying that you can't go back, but it's not true," Thompson said smiling.

Thompson left her hometown of Colchester, England a warbride in 1946 with husband Vaughn. The family made their home in the Crowsnest Pass in southern Alberta.

Linda Thompson, Danny, Molly, and Brenda in England.

The sisters continued to keep in touch with letters for many years.

Soon their letters began coming back unopened. Molly had left their hometown of Colchester and Thompson's family relocated in Drayton Valley in 1958.

They lost track of each other over the years, Linda recalled and both had assumed the other one had passed on.

Almost two years ago in a final effort to locate Molly Burrett the Thompson family contacted the Salvation Army.

Their investigation led to the government-run old age pension where Molly was located in Wokingham, Berkshire County, England.

Although Thompson said the experience was bigger than words could describe she calls it a thrill of a lifetime.

"Of all the day and night dreams I've had in the last 41 years none have been so wonderful," she explained.

They talked 24 hours a day, every day, until the three-week visit came to an end.

Now Thompson's dreams are filled with memories of her visit and hopes of returning to England and to sister Molly.

"If somebody gave me the money I'd go this afternoon — I wouldn't even wash my clothes. If God's willing and if I can afford it I'll go back again," she said.

New float for town

Work has started on a float to represent the town.

Bill Arnold, a member of the chamber's float committee says a new float will be ready in time for the September trade fair.

At the present time the committee is working on a design that will include some working parts.

The theme of the float will include agricultural, the oil patch, logging and tourism.

Arnold says it's the committee's intention the float, to cost approximately $4,000, will be motorized.

Plans are to take it to out-of-town events. No firm decisions have been made on just where the float will go.

Arnold said the chamber just didn't have enough time to get a float ready for the Evergreen rodeo parade.

The 19th Hole

Mayor Doug Fee drove a ball through the grand opening sign to officially mark the opening of the nine-hole expansion at Innisfail.

******

Bill Joinson's 75 enabled the Leduc golfer to claim the top prize at the fifth annual Nisku oilmen's golf tourney.

******

The Barrhead course recorded two holes-in-one in one week.

Steven Tansowny was the first to realize the golfer's dream on the 8th hole followed by Mary Sawyer on the par 3 third hole.

******

Two Drayton Valley golfers won flights at the recent oilmen's tournament at Edson. Jerry Mastre won the third flight and Myron Haiushka captured the 8th.

******

The juniors take over the DV course this Saturday for their annual tournament.

Seventy two golfers tee off at 9:30 a.m.

******

The Tucker team continues to lead the men's league. As of June 9 they had 56 points and a three-point lead over Wilneff (who moved up from fifth spot) and Kuzek. Balen was alone in third spot with 47 points followed by Mallett with 46, Sufferon and Cokes 45, Mayhew 43, Hood 41, Layden and Jamieson 40, Chymycz 36, Mattoon and Neal 34, Ganske 33, Warren 32, Novosel 31, Malanowich 30, Mastre 28 and Pasay with 15.

Low net honors went to Kelly Clark with a 31 while Don Maciborski had a 37 to capture the low gross. Colin Cavanagh won the most honest golfer award.

The Pine Ridge course (Seba Beach) will be closed this Friday as the Oilfield Contractors Association tournament will be held.

******

The St. Albert Kinsmen/RCMP Child Abuse Prevention celebrity weekend starts Thursday. The opening event is a mini-golf tournament at the Pebble Beach course in West Edmonton Mall.

Ladies tee off at local course

More than 70 competitors took to the fairways for the Drayton Valley Ladies' Open last Saturday.

Top winner of the tournament was Allison Jackson with the best low gross score of 86 in the championship flight.

Lorna Lautsen finished with the low net.

First flight low gross winner was Evelyn Wendt while Gloria Bodnar won low net.

Susan Long won low gross in the second flight and Michaelle Shimbashi took low net.

In the third flight Pat Karbovanec won the low gross and Peg Morrison was the low net winner.

Sherry Luft was the low gross winner in the fourth flight and Carolyn Ness low net.

Fifth flight low gross winner was Darlene Turenne and Eddie Sturries won low net.

Low gross winner in the sixth flight was Lorraine Mastre with Bea Lainchbury winning for low net.

Irene Wilkes won the low gross in the seventh and Shirley Pearson the low net.

The eighth flight saw Marg Mattoon win the low gross and Elian Lui win the low net.

Allison Jackson receives trophy from golf pro Howard Vickers.

Rain out

Weekend soccer action saw Drayton Valley United beat Mayerthorpe 5-2.

For the second straight game Chris Kelly scored three goals with Nigel Buckland and Andy Kelly adding one each.

Chris Kelly now leads the senior men's league with eight goals in three games.

The initial 20 minutes of the game saw DV United up 3-0, then due to a let down Mayerthorpe gained the momentum and capitalized, scoring two goals in five minutes.

The half ended 3-2.

Mayerthorpe came off the sidelines strong to begin the second half, but DV United got the boost they needed and scored two goals late in the game.

The 5-2 victory puts the team in first place overall in the league standings with three wins, no losses, no ties.

Their next game is against second place Whitecourt on July 1, 7 p.m. at Lion's Park.

Soccer win

Rain was the big determining factor at the minor ball tournament in Spruce Grove on the weekend.

The event was called due to a downpour Sunday.

The Enron Oilers of the bantam division were able to play two of four games before weather interfered. The team lost both games against teams from Sherwood Park and Fort Saskatchewan.

The beaver division's IDA Oilers won their first game Saturday against Fort Saskatchewan 11-10 with Robbie Hutchinson's home run being the difference.

The second game was rained out Sunday in the fifth inning against the Spruce Grove team at 4-4.

Due to the rain the tournament was called putting the IDA Oilers in third spot overall.

In other weekend ball action, the DV Oilers senior baseball tournament and the ladies fastball league playoffs were both rained out.

Swim club places third

The Drayton Valley Neptunes placed third at a weekend swim meet at St. Albert.

The Neptunes who took 38 swimmers to the Father's Day meet, finished with 616 points. Host St. Albert were first with 997 points followed by Red Deer with 675.

In the eight and under category, Tim Regnier had firsts in the 25m butterfly and backstroke and Becky Samis chalked up a first in the 25m backstroke. The relay team of Shasha Sprague, Krista Samis, Carla McGinn and Becky Samis also finished first.

Jennifer Edwards captured first place in the nine and 10-year-old 25m butterfly.

In the girls 11 and 12 year-old division, Kylie Tucker won the 50m breaststroke and placed third in both the 50m back and 50m freestyle.

Steven Oscar was a three-time winner in the boys 15 and 16-year-old class, taking top honors in the 50m butterfly, 100m back and 50m freestyle. The team of Michelle Smeland, Andrea Groulx, Dawn Urchyshyn and Angela Groulx won the 200m medley relay.

Both Regnier and Oscar won aggregate titles for their performances at St. Albert.

At a meet two weeks ago at Wetaskiwin, Regnier won the gold aggregate for eight and under boys, earning 19 points with a first in the 25m butterfly and 25m freestyle and a second in the 25m breaststroke. Jennifer Edwards won the gold aggregate for nine and 10-year-old girls earning 21 points with a first in the 25m fly, 50m back and 50m freestyle. And, Jonathon Setterlund captured the bronze aggregate for nine and 10-year-old boys with 13 points which included a second in the 100m free, 50m back and a third in the 100m individual medley.

'Play a Round' with Howard

By Howard Vickers, Pro
Drayton Valley Golf Course

Hole 5: 396 yards, Par 4

This is probably the best par 4 on the golf course with trees on both sides and almost four hundred yards of distance.

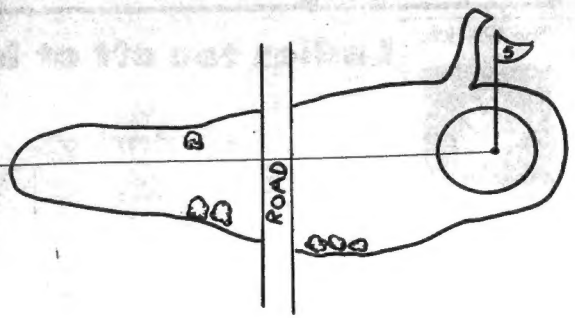
Hitting your drive down the left side shortens the hole slightly as it is a bit of a dogleg left.

Some large trees in the fairway on the right and left in the landing area can pose a problem.

This green faces up to the golfer nicely and will hold a well-hit shot as well as a slow down ball falling on a little too quickly.

The green is nicely contoured and you should read the putt carefully.

Rules note: the lease road is an immovable obstruction and you are entitled to free relief.



CHUTE TALK

Saddle bronc rider Kent Cooper of Albion, Idaho took over first place in the Coors Chute-Out series at the Innisfail pro rodeo with an 83 marking on Vold's Crazy Blaze.

In the bareback event, three time Canadian champion Steve Dunham drew '85 bucking horse of the year Coyote and scored an 81.

Mark Nugent, 18, won the calf roping at Innisfail with a time of 7.7 seconds. The steer wrestling event was won by Larry French while U.S. cowgirl Patty Jones won the ladies barrels in 16.83 seconds.

******

The latest pro rodeo standings including Innisfail, Brooks and Coronation have Drayton Valley's Clayton Hines in third place in the saddle bronc standings. He has won $5,309. Jim Kelts leads the event with $8,279 followed by Mel Coleman with earnings of $6,417.

******

Marcie Eide of Tomahawk is sitting in second place in the Alberta Budweiser pro rodeo circuit ladies barrel racing standings. She has 67½ points. Anne Lawes of Provost leads the event with 100 points. Both Trish Brown of Calgary and Kelley Byrne of Prince Albert are tied for third place with 60 points.

******

Murray Reich of Drayton Valley had to settle for an 8th place showing at the 25th annual Sandhills rodeo in Lancer, Sask.

******

The annual Buck Lake Stampede will be held July 10 and 11.

The Friday evening performance starts at 6 p.m. with Saturday's show set for 1 p.m.

Oilfield league turning into two-way race for pennant

By Frank Ryan

The Oilfield Baseball League is turning into a two-team race for the pennant.

The Easyford Colts downed the Breton Royals 13-3 last Thursday night to improve their win/loss record to 5-1. In Warburg, the Drayton Valley Oilers kept pace with a 21-7 win over the host Rams. The win leaves the Oilers with a 4-2 win/loss record. The Royals are now 2-4 and the Rams are 1-5.

Tim Martin was the big story as the Colts played their first home game of the '87 season. In just his first start, Martin hurled a two-hitter and fanned five. He got lots of help as his mates pounded out 12 hits off three Breton pitchers.

Third baseman Trent Pankewicz led the way at the plate for the Colts with three singles. Garry Kreye and Colin Tuckwood had two singles each and Jock Hutchinson zipped a double to left field.

The Colts jumped into a 3-0 first inning lead and led 6-3 after the fourth. But a five-run uprising in the sixth along with two more runs in the seventh put the game on ice.

The diamond, which was flooded out last July, features a shale infield, chain link fence and new dugouts.

Chalk Dust - In league play last Tuesday the Colts edged Warburg 16-15 while the Oilers/Royals game was cancelled because of rain. The Colts also made up a game against Breton during the recent Warburg tournament, winning that one 9-0...The Colts' annual tournament is set for July 4-5. The four-league teams, two from Peers, Camrose and Rosaland will attend.

The people who don't believe in hell have never tried to get bubble gum out of a mohair sweater.

Lac Ste. Anne fish derby

Fishermen angling for a lucky catch will be out on Lac Ste. Anne in abundance this weekend.

Saturday and Sunday marks the Canadian Progress Club's fifth annual Fish at Large Derby held to raise funds for Uncles at Large, and although concerns have been raised about the effects on fish stocks after the weekend event, the derby should be going ahead as usual, with a few minor changes.

"This year, four boats will be running around giving out prizes," for those who catch and release, derby chairman Lisle Kivell explained.

Kivell said the club has been cooperating with fish and wildlife in holding the derby. "For two years we've run creel studies and fish and wildlife said no, they didn't think we were taking to much out."

That, combined with setting the derby date back to the last weekend in June when fish are more mature should mean the derby's effects on lake stocks shouldn't be as drastic as previous derbies.

As well, Canadian Progress Club members will be awarding prizes from The Fishin' Hole to fishermen who show nothing for their day's fishing. It's their way of encouraging people not to keep everything they catch.

The changes come after the Onoway Fish and Game Club whose territory covers Alberta Beach, expressed concern about overfishing on the lake because of derbies.

The Buck Lake house boat is available for summer rentals again this year.

Buck Lake house boat for rent

If the summer heat is getting to you and running through the lawn sprinkler just isn't your idea of fun, a dip into Buck Lake just might be.

Brian Throndson and Myles Melin of Alberta Cruise Enterprises recommend plunging into summer fun off their 12 by 32-foot house boat on Buck Lake.

Rentals are now being taken for the houseboat that sleeps eight comfortably.

The boat has most of the comforts of home...such as a four-burner stove, tub with shower enclosure, built-in propane refrigerator, sink, flush toilet, hot and cold pressure water, AM/FM cassette with upper deck speakers, patio lights, propane furnace, 65 hp motor, Honda 110 volt generator, along with dishes, cutlery, cooking utensils, propane and life jackets. All you have to bring is bedding, food, fishing and swimming gear, personal toiletries and lawn chairs for upper deck relaxing. They even have a hook-up for TV.

Lessons in operating are available for would-be captains from Throndson or Melin before the group leaves dock.

This summer water lovers can forget about stealing a dip in the kid's wading pool as Buck Lake and Alberta Cruise Enterprises are only a 40-minute drive from your backyard in Drayton Valley.

Rec board positions

May be tough to get

It could get harder to get a volunteer position on the recreation board.

Dave Lundberg told the board last week that council is looking at a new format to choose people. He said an application form had been used in the past, and while that same format may be used, the questions will change.

Lundberg, also a town councillor, indicated people with a cultural background as opposed to people with a hockey or ball interest, might be considered for one of the five community-at-large positions.

Recreation director

Has one simple goal

Paul Nielsen's goal is simple.

Drayton Valley's new recreation director wants everyone to know about the services the town makes available.

A 1982 master plan stated that 57 per cent of the population was aware of recreation in the community. Nielsen says that may even be higher now, due to issues that have been raised.

"I'd like everyone to know what we do," he said last week.

Town council

User fees discussion

Town council is expected to look at a draft copy on user fees when they meet Thursday.

Recreation director Paul Nielsen says he has put together the report which will likely start next year.

Nielsen says only two leagues...minor ball and the Evergreen men's fastball league have approached him about the fees.

Clare Drake attends chamber golf tournament

University coach gives informal talk

By Megan Parker

Following a round of golf, players in the third annual Drayton Valley and District Chamber of Commerce golf tournament gathered in the club house to visit with sports figure Clare Drake.

Drake is coach of the University of Alberta Golden Bears hockey team.

The talk was informal with Drake recalling humorous moments in his sports career while listeners fielded questions from their seats.

The evening ended with chamber director Terry Kilborn presenting Drake with a club jacket.

Other recipients of golf club souvenirs went to the first place team with a net score of 35. On the team were Ron Link, Val Mulligan, and Sabrina Jones.

Ken Grimm won the draw for the ball in the bush while Ramona Treu won for ball in the creek award on the ninth hole.

Cowboy Flett received a prize for the longest drive on three.

The best poker hand went to team members David Slushinski, Brenda Malone, Jim Jansen and Dennis Kirkwood for scoring seven fours.

Don Howarth landed closest to the pin on eight, and the most honest team was Julie Berquist, Lorne Pinkowski, Ralph Whitney and Tom McGee.

Thanks

A very special thank you to the entire "Westbank Acres Gang" for the lovely tray. We are really going to miss all of our good friends and neighbours. You are all a terrific bunch

Sincerely, Bob and Lynda, Lee, Melodie, Michelle & Angela

'Looking good'

Red Deer Rustlers to Leduc?

By Kevin Franchuk

Negotiations to move the Red Deer Rustlers of the Alberta Junior Hockey League to Leduc are "looking good," says a representative of a group pursuing the franchise.

Wally Scott, representing a group of 12 business people, met Rustlers' owners in Red Deer recently with an offer to purchase the AJHL team. An earlier proposal by the group to establish a new Leduc franchise was refused June 6 by league officials.

Scott said the offer for the Rustlers was made, but nothing definite was decided at the meeting. "It's looking good. We're pretty prepared to work something out," he said.

The Rustlers were AJHS champions last year. They represented Alberta in the Western Canada Games but lost to British Columbia.

Rustlers' co-owner Graham Parsons said the Red Deer team doesn't have the manpower to continue operating, adding the team franchise went public, seeking local investors for the club.

"If we don't get any more help, and we'll know that within a week or so, we will sell the team to Leduc.

"I believe that Leduc will be a good franchise," Parsons said. He indicated that even if Red Deer saves the team, it would only be a matter of time before Leduc gets an AJHL club.

"There will always be a team in trouble, and Leduc will be the next place in line."

Parsons said the AJHL has a parity not found in other hockey leagues in the West. "It's so even that every night it's going to be entertaining. It's not going to be a blowout."

Scott said he expects an answer from Red Deer within a week.

Money can't buy love, health, happiness, or what it did last year.

Trailer park expansion

Pleasantview Trailer Court, south of town on 50th Street continues to expand. Fifteen new stalls have been opened extending the size of the facility to 45.

Sardine Lake road upgrading

Help may be on the way for residents living along the Sardine Lake road.

County of Leduc Councillor Bruce Cropley reported to a recent municipal committee about conditions on the road. The road has experienced extensive damage because of spring frost heaves coupled with a truck haul from a nearby battery site.

The county will consider the road work in their Alberta Transportation road program.

Daycare cuts not felt yet

The Drayton Valley Happy Daycare has so far remained untouched by provincial cuts in funding.

"We haven't felt it," said Parvis Lookmanjee.

"If there are cutbacks then we'll (Drayton Valley Happy Daycare) be affected for sure," said Lookmanjee.

But, the facility will definitely feel the pinch if further cutbacks occur, she added.

Connie Osterman, minister of Social Services is expected to make an announcement regarding such cutbacks this summer. Some cutbacks have already been announced.

Abuse of daycare licensing standards in some Edmonton facilities have forced the shut down of these centers.

Lookmanjee maintains the "stories appearing in the Edmonton Journal" on poor standards are not true of her facility.

"We've (DV Happy Daycare) always been up to par with licensing," she said.

4-H Awards

By Glenn Norton
Club reporter

The Tomahawk 4-H Beef club held their annual awards banquet June 12 at the Tomahawk school gym, with about 60 people in attendance.

Glenn Norton won for grand champion steer, grand champion heifer and champion cow-calf pair. The trophy for reserve grand champion steer went to Arlene Norton. Senior grooming and showmanship were also won by Glenn Norton.

Junior grooming went to first-year member Misty Wickware. Junior showmanship was won by Kenneth Rogers, who also won for best rate of gain. The club efficiency award was won by Arlene Norton.

Senior record book winner was Darcy Kohut and junior record book winner was Bonnie Kohut.

In public speaking, Glenn Norton won for seniors and Jeff Androschuk won for juniors. Androschuk also won for best all around first-year member.

Plaques of appreciation were presented to leader Neil Norton and assistant leader Wil Goerz. The members plan to go to West Edmonton Mall June 25 for their year-end wind-up activity.

Beehive records deficit

By Steve Fletcher

Despite an operating deficit of $47,000, the Drayton Valley Association for the Developmentally Handicapped is in "fairly decent financial shape," says president Garry Lorenz.

The deficit was caused primarily by the need to "update some services we were required to do from the audit," he said at last week's general meeting.

Describing the audit as a "very large document" produced last year by the provincial government, Lorenz told the small turnout of association members that 75 to 80 per cent of the report's recommendations were in place or in the process of being in place.

Administration has implemented strict measures to deal with the financial situation, which is "relatively in line" although some overstaffing may have occurred, he added.

Andy Dornan, the Beehive Workshop's executive director, said the organization was not hit as hard as other agencies by government funding cutbacks and as a result there won't be

Gary Lorenz
"a big reduction of services."

Administration has concentrated on the "reallocation of human resources" to ensure that, in keeping with the government report, positions are filled with the most qualified individuals, Dornan added.

Over the past year, the association has had a staff turnover of 42 people — 20 being in full-time positions.

The workshop will look towards expanding several programs, and will strive for changes that will be more conducive to the needs of the handicapped, said Dornan.

The workshop, for example, is currently seeking an employment placement officer who will be responsible for finding community jobs for clients and for maintaining a liaison with employers.

Dornan said administration is also considering hiring someone to streamline the organization and make it more functional.

Meanwhile, the association's executive members were all re-elected by acclamation. They include: Lorenz (chairman); Tom McGee (vice-chairman), Marilyn Boles (recording secretary); Jack McLean (board secretary); and Cathy Polsfut (treasurer).

An election was held to vote in the 13 board members-at-large. The members include: Eleanor Pickup, Marion McKenzie, Francis Piskunowics, Norma Howatt, John Mulligan, Isabel Martin, Tom Turner, and Arllys Toker.

Group beneficial

The Alberta Association of Rehabilitation Centres works as an advocacy service for all member organizations, says executive director Gail Parsons.

Policy, contracts, and other concerns of groups like the Beehive Workshop are lobbied for by the association, Parsons said.

In addition, as executive director, she is "out there finding out what is going on" in terms of rehabilitative methods throughout North America.

Speaking at the annual general meeting of the Drayton Valley Association for the Developmentally Handicapped, Parsons outlined the resources available to member agencies through her association.

Information on innovative steps being introduced into the world of rehabilitation medicine is filtered to provincial centres.

Moreover, the association has been in the forefront in ensuring rehabilitation agencies are up to standard.

At its inception in 1972, the association "quickly came to the conclusion there were vast differences in standards throughout the province," said Parsons.

By 1974, the group had devised its own set of standards which today are stricter than its Canadian counterpart, she added.

The association has also set up an accreditation commission for vocational rehabilitation centres. So far, six of its 36 member agencies have been accredited.

"We're not there to monitor, but to help ensure a quality of service expected by your peers. Accreditation is a good way to go," Parsons stressed.

In the future, she continued, programs should become more generic and the association's jurisdiction should be broadened to include all groups serving the disabled.

"We may not be going in the same direction, and therefore power is fragmenting."

Parsons has been the association's executive director for the last three years. Based in Calgary, she is also the mother of a 15-year-old handicapped son.

Traffic count

Alberta Transportation is planning a number of traffic counts around the Sturdi Wood mill this summer.

The traffic studies will be done in response to a request from the town for traffic lights on 34th Ave. (the road into the mill) and Highway 22.

Besides the traffic counts later this summer at both the 34th Ave. and south 50th St. intersections with Highway 22, load counts from the mill will be obtained.

Printers relocate

Drayton Valley Printers were busy last week moving their presses into their new shop at the corner of 54th St. and 53rd Ave. (formerly TM Electric).

MLA Cripps

Pro needs addressed

The need for more professional people in Drayton Valley was addressed during a private meeting last week.

The meeting that included MLA Shirley Cripps, church and school officials was a follow-up to an earlier meeting that included Jim Dinning, Minister of Community and Occuptional Health.

The meeting Dinning attended addressed the problem of no mental health officer in the community. That vacancy is expected to be filled by mid-July.

Last week's meeting talked about meeting other needs in the community. Cripps told The Western Review, that although there appears to be a need for more professional people, every community is in the same boat.

Cripps says a report will be drawn up identifying the local problems.

Additions

Two schools in Drayton Valley will have additions in time for classes in September.

Two additional classrooms will be added on to St. Anthony to accommodate 50 more students. The construction will be structured steel frame to match the existing building levels.

Estimated cost of the project is $275,000. The school board intends to apply to the Local Authorities Board for authorization to borrow the total amount.

And, the County of Parkland plans to spend $54,000 on a portable classroom and another $128,500 on a connecting corridor at Eldorado elementary.

REAL ESTATE TODAY
Rod Schultz

In other columns we have talked about how a particular property is [redacted]

It is sold on the benefits that the property offers - not on the bricks and mortar! For example, a fireplace is sold on the basis of the good times you can enjoy in front of the fire - not on the fact that it's there. In terms of real estate vernacular - "sell the sizzle, not the steak."

But equally important for both the homeowner and salesperson is to realize: Who buys the house?

Single or family?

Will it be a single person? A family? Or a professional couple with no children?

When you decide who is the most likely type of buyer, then arrange to show the property accordingly.

In the extreme, I am reminded of the story about a small house backing onto busy railway tracks. It sat empty for over a year, then was finally sold -to (you guessed it) a retired train engineer and his wife.

The moral. Figure out who the house appeals to then go after those buyers.

But what about the average house, appealing to both husband and wife? Who makes the final choice? While it's tough to generalize, it's usually the person who spends the most time at home.

If you're dealing with a non-working wife, she probably will have the final say. And that means she wants a spacious kitchen and a front hallway that can show off her personality. For working couples, the entertainment area and master bedroom take on more importance.

When you identify the potential buyer, you're more than halfway to selling the home.

Public school principals all returning

All four principals at the public schools in Drayton Valley will be returning next term.

Elson Keown will be returning for his 12th year as principal at Elementary B, which will be renamed Evergreen at an official opening planned for Oct./Nov. Vice-principal Chris Kelly will be back for his eighth year. Darlene Harris is taking maternity leave and the school will have a part-time librarian.

There's a number of changes at H.W. Pickup. Principal Colin Cavanagh will be back for his eighth year while vice-principal Tom Hutton is retiring after 17 years at the school. Prior to joining the staff at H.W. Pickup, Hutton spent four years at Frank Maddock High and has been teaching for 37 years. His last day is this Friday.

Also at H.W. Pickup...Joan Moore is moving to Fox Creek, Bev Hamilton will teach at Stony Plain junior high next term and Chris Parker, an intern teacher, will not be returning.

Howard Pearson will be returning for his fourth year as principal at Eldorado, however he is expecting a drastic decrease in Grade 1 enrollment. Pre-registration indicates the Grade 1 total will be about 127 compared to 160 this year. Colette Chaison who has taught at the school for nine years is moving to Manitoba.

Alan Day

At Frank Maddock High, Alan Day will be returning for his third year as principal and 19th year at the school. Vice-principal Gary Unterschultz will also be coming back in September.

Bob Kennedy, who has taught at FMHS since '79 is leaving next month for North Bay, Ontario and Scott Lewis, an intern teacher, won't be returning as his position is a victim of government cutbacks.

Funding set for new hall

The Easyford Community Association has enough money to construct its new hall, but after that more fundraising must take place.

Association president Jack Bannard says the group has $185,000 in CRC and flood grants to pay for the structure, but will then have to raise money to purchase the furnishings.

A recent special meeting of the community group examined the first draft of the architectural drawings for the hall and decided changes were needed.

"We asked that the kitchen be enlarged, that different entries and exits to the hall be included, and some playschool changes," said Bannard.

Architects are currently working on the final draft.

As for the remains of the old hall, severely damaged by last year's July flood, Bannard said local people have purchased the building and have salvaged what they could.

He expects the building will be burned down once the owners receive a fire permit.

Bannard added that, if last week's Loggers' Festival earns a profit, all proceeds will go toward the new hall.

Meeting proposed

Park in Aspenview?

Aspenview residents may soon have a neighborhood park if town council's strategy pays off.

The town will make a request to the Lehndorff General Partner Corporation for a portion of its land to establish the park, councillors agreed.

The land in question is located in the northern portion of the Aspenview subdivision.

The recreation board and the municipal planning commission have already studied the proposal and picked the location.

Calmar goat show

Bengers big winners at event

Joanne and John Benger were the big winners at the Calmar and District Agricultural Society 10th Annual Goat Show last week.

"We took 26 goats and 22 were winners," said Joanne Benger.

Judge Stephen Richter of Carlton, Oregon awarded their nubian buck Fez Jesse Jame's with grand champion status.

The Bengers also owned the reserve champion in the same class.

Competitors came from across Alberta and British Columbia, said Benger.

"It wasn't just two neighbors showing their goats to each other," she said chuckling.

The couple plan to enter their nurabian herd at the Lloydminster show later this summer and will attend Drayton Valley's agricultural show.

New sidewalks

Work started in various locations in town last week replacing old worn out sidewalks. Council recently authorized a $30,000 expenditure for the project.

Millrate lowered in '77

From the Files

10 Years Ago

A $50,000 revenue fund enabled Drayton Valley town council to lower the mill rate proposed for the '77 taxes.

Definite boundaries for a new county in the Drayton Valley area were before a committee of the provincial cabinet, but 'changes might still be made before a proposal went to the cabinet, likely during the first half of August.'

Councillor Claude Albert walked out of a meeting of Drayton Valley council to protest the lack of action on a resolution of council.

The Drayton Valley Rebels decided to join the Alberta Major Intermediate Hockey League.

Kinsmen

Another successful campaign

The Kinsmen Club's annual drive home safety campaign at the recent Frank Maddock high school grad bash was a success for the third year in a row.

President Jason Colby said everything went smoothly and added the students cooperated and accepted rides home.

Those who drove to the bash, located near Buck Lake, had their keys collected by the Kinsmen. The keys were picked up the next morning at the RCMP detachment.

Kinsmen remained at the scene from around 6 p.m. on the night of the party until 6:30 the next morning.

New commissioner

County office adds employee

Visitors to County of Parkland headquarters in Stony Plain will see a new face in charge of the whole operation.

Jim Simpson, has just arrived from the small town of Morrin (north of Drumheller) to start his duties as the new county commissioner. He replaces former county administrator Otto Schuster, who retired in March.

Although county council has changed the name of the position from administrator, to commissioner Simpson's duties will be identical to his predecessor's. As commissioner, Simpson will be in charge of coordinating the various county departments, advising making recommendations to county councillors and ensuring that council decisions are implemented throughout the departments.

The position should be similar to the job he has just vacated. For the past 14 years Simpson was head administrator for the Municipal District of Starland, located in the Stettler-Hanna area.

The only thing that may be different is the size of the municipality for which he'll be responsible. Parkland is larger.

Simpson doesn't plan on making any changes to the way the county is run. "From what I've seen so far, the county runs well. There's problems always arising, that's for sure. Those problems you deal with on a day-to-day basis."

PUBLIC NOTICE

By-Law 17-87 Dated: June 18, 1987

A-T-T-E-N-T-I-O-N

ELECTORS OF THE COUNTY OF PARKLAND NO. 31

The Council of the County of Parkland No. 31 intends to construct a two classroom addition to the Wabamun School in the Village of Wabamun to consist of:

Addition, including Architect Fees	$231,700
Renovations, including Architect Fees	28,000
Exterior Work	3,000
TOTAL ESTIMATED COST	$262,700

In order to carry out this project the Council intends to apply to the Local Authorities board for authority to borrow an estimated One Hundred Ninety Thousand dollars ($190,000), representing the estimated Provincial School buildings Board support, with the unsupported balance funded from County capital reserves.

Of that estimated borrowed amount, 100% is proposed to be paid from the Provincial School Foundation Program Fund. The actual division of costs between the School Foundation Program Fund and the Council will be determined within three years from the time of acceptance of tenders or other schemes of construction.

If you do not agree that the Council should borrow this amount, you may petition for a vote in accordance with the provisions of The School Act.

The petition must be signed by at least::
(a) 2 percent of the electors in a district or division having 10,000 electors or more, or
(b) 5 percent of the electors in a district or division having less than 10,000 but 5,000 electors or more, or
(c) 10 percent of the electors in a district or division having less than 5,000 electors but 500 electors or more, or
(d) 15 percent of the electors in a district or division having less than 500 electors.
and be received by the board within 15 days of the last publication of this public notice of the proposed debenture borrowing. The last publication date will be June 30, 1987

Maywood reunion

Old photos and artifacts enjoyed

Guests from Texas, Georgia and the three western provinces attended the recent Maywood school reunion.

One hundred and sixty-five people signed the guest book with about 50 per cent of them being former students.

The Maywood school opened in 1921 and closed in '54. It re-opened later that year to serve as the overflow classroom for grades 1 and 2 at Buck Lake. In later years, it became a community hall, a function it is still used for today.

One of the guests at the two-day reunion was Marvel Guard, the last teacher at the school.

Those in attendance enjoyed looking at the old photos, ledgers and artifacts.

A painting of the old school donated by Ivy Brod was auctioned off, and purchased by Jack Goodkey for $825. His wife Mildred attended the Maywood school.

A miniature of the old school, built by another student, Marvin Long, was used for a silver collection which netted $101.

MLA Shirley Cripps attended and extended congratulations on behalf of the province.

A special shelter was built for the occasion, so guests could get some shade.

"It was a beautiful day. Everyone had a good time," Long said.

Fifty of those attending the Maywood school reunion travelled to Alder Flats for their old timers reunion.

Souvenir plates and spoons marking the occasion of the Maywood school reunion are still available. If anyone would like to purchase one, call Darlene Sharp.

Students (pictured above and below) at Eldorado school performed before approximately 200 people at their recent concert.

Sunny skies, good turnout

For the third consecutive year Eldorado school's outdoor concert was graced with sunny skies.

The good weather helped ensure a healthy turnout, as approximately 200 parents, friends, brothers and sisters lugged in lawn chairs and watched the 90-minute show.

Eldorado students performed duets and solos, recited poems, danced, and sang original material.

It was the school's third concert of the year. The previous two were performed indoors, with each including one-third of the school's students.

The evening was capped off with a performance by the Selected Jazz Dance Group, which danced to Lionel Ritchie's "Dancing on the Ceiling."

Tenders called for

Alberta Transportation and Utilities will call for tenders for a highway twinning project in the Wildwood Evansburg area, Minister of Transportation and Utilities Al Adair and Whitecourt MLA Peter Trynchy announced recently.

This project involves grading of the eastbound lanes as the first phase in the twinning of Highway 16 for 6.2 kilometres from east of Wildwood to the junction of Highway 22 (north) west of Evansburg. Constructing the grade first will allow for settlement through the muskeg areas before base pavement is applied in the next stage.

Trynchy said, "The twinning project will stop short of Wildwood. This will allow ongoing discussions with the town about alignment of the road around Wildwood."

"This project is part of the program to twin Highway 16," said Adair. "Work on this section is expected to be complete this fall."

TransAlta

Rates to be reduced

TransAlta Utilities has received approval from the Public Utilities Board (PUB) to reduce customers' rates, effective July 1.

The reduction will vary from 1.5 to 5.7 per cent, depending on the customer's rate category. Residential customers in TransAlta's service area will experience a 3.6 per cent decrease, or about $1.40 on an average monthly bill of $40.

The reduction is intended as a method of returning to customers a $17-million adjustment which TransAlta is receiving from the Electric Energy Marketing Agency (EEMA) following the finalization of 1985 EEMA prices.

It is expected the $17 million will be returned to customers within six months, so the reduction will be effective from July 1 to Dec. 31. On Jan. 1, 1988 rates would return to current levels.

TransAlta also received approval of another adjustment which will have no impact on customers' net bills. The PUB approved an interim increase which will cover the extra cost of increased income tax resulting from the new provincial budget. However, this increase, like all income tax which the company pays, will be rebated to customers through the Alberta Income Tax Rebate Program. Therefore, customers will not experience any impact on their net bills due to the income tax adjustment.

Serving Albertans for more than 75 years, TransAlta Utilities is Canada's largest investor-owned electric utility, providing two thirds of Alberta's electric energy requirements.

Mud fling June 27, 28

By Bernice Johnson
388-3863

Ed and Laura Haggart are getting ready for their second annual "mud fling" competition which will be a two-day event this year. They attended the mud fling at Alix on the May long weekend. Ed placed fourth out of 10 in modified, a good showing for his first year. Laura took second in the powder puff division and her brother Neil Westling placed first in his class.

A work bee held May 30 saw a lot of enthusiasts coming out to help build bleachers, fences, paint, etc. in preparation for the big sports event. Last year about 500 spectators were in attendance and a larger audience is expected this year.

This year's mud fling will be June 27 and 28, rain or shine, at Bare Foot Flats (north of Alder Flats at the residence of the Haggart's). Classes to enter are stock, super stock, modified and ladies (four-point harness), super modified and open (five-point harness). There will be a minimum of $2,500 in prize money as well as gate prizes donated by local businesses. There will also be prize money for the winners of the men's and ladies' foot races.

There will be a concession booth as well as camping available on the grounds. For more information you can phone Ed and Laura at 388 2249 or Neil and Kathy at 696 3957.

Dale Nestegard is home after spending a couple of days in the Rocky Mountain Hospital.

Lars Larson took part in the Flying Poker Rally June 6, winning four prizes. He took off from home in the morning with his first stop being Wetaskiwin followed by Camrose, Stettler, Lacombe and Red Deer. This annual event is sponsored by the Women's 99 Chapter.

Larry Redford and Howard accompanied him.

Sheila Borle graduated from NAIT May 1, receiving a diploma in engineering designing and drafting. Parents Gordon and Pat Borle and sister Irene and husband Martin White attended the banquet and graduation exercises. Sheila is now employed at Grande Prairie.

Parks and Recreation

Something for everyone

The County of Parkland Parks and Recreation department has a busy summer planned for you.

Their summer programs to run during the months of July and August include horsemanship seminars, BMX freestyle clinics and racing, canoeing, soccer camps, tennis, water skiing and a teen challenge.

Each program has a quota which must be met before it can be offered. All applicants must pre-register seven days before the program's starting date.

Copies of 'Gimme A Break' brochure, outlining all the programs, were distributed through schools last week. Copies are also available from the county recreation offices in Drayton Valley and Stony Plain.

If you have any questions regarding the summer programs phone Rolanda Mudry or Terri Featherstone at 963-2231 or Ed Haykowski at 542-4632.

Some of the programs being offered in the west end of the county include a horsemanship seminar July 28 at the Tomahawk community hall, a BMX freestyle clinic in the Drayton Valley arena on July 17, a one-day summer break caravan featuring games, crafts, music, drama and sports at the Violet Grove Hall on July 23. A kids' academy for youngsters six to 12 is planned for July 6-9 at the Lodgepole curling rink, Aug. 4-6 at the Tomahawk Agri Centre and Aug. 10-13 at the Rocky Rapids Hall.

A soccer camp is being offered through the Drayton Valley Minor Soccer Association. To register contact Simon Kelly at 542-2700 (business) or 542-7146. Two tennis clinics, a level I is booked for July 9 on the courts behind the Park Valley pool and a level II clinic on July 10.

County of Parkland residents are urged to get involved in these programs. There's something for everyone.

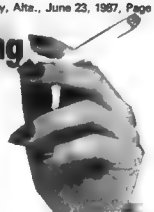
Advertising not main reason for kids smoking



Cigarette advertising as an influence on why children start to smoke is irrelevant, a leading child psychologist of Great Britain declared in commenting on a study he conducted of 1,012 Canadian children between the ages of seven and 15.

Glen Smith, chairman of the Children's Research Unit of London, which has conducted studies in several countries in the past three years, announced his Canadian findings at Toronto by claiming the interaction of curiosity, peer pressure, parental and sibling influence were the key factors influencing young Canadians to start smoking.

Advertising was found to be the least significant factor in smoking initiation among Canadian juveniles, the CRU report found, indicating these results confirm similar findings in a recent study done by the World Health Organization (WHO) in Norway and Finland.

His findings were supported by Prof. John R.G. Jenkins, of the School of Business, Wilfrid Laurier University of Waterloo, Ont., who, commenting on the British-based study, observed, "...government efforts to seriously restrict or ban cigarette advertising may be based on a serious misperception of the attitudes and the thought processes of young people with respect to tobacco products."

The study reveals that, on average, one in nine Canadian youngsters in the seven to 15 age group smokes, compared to one in six in Norway, one in 14 in Spain, one in nine in Australia and only one in 100 in Hong Kong.

Among the youngest (seven to 12) the first cigarette is very often offered by family or relatives in the hopes of deterring future smoking by the child. If the first smoking experience is at a later age, it will be most likely with friends, and away from home. Peer pressure is the principal reason why 22 per cent of the 13 and 14 year olds smoke.

The study, published by the Association of Canadian Advertisers and funded by the Canadian Tobacco Manufacturers Council, also observed that about 95 per cent of all participants and 100 per cent of the smokers in the group are aware that smoking could affect their health. Obtaining cigarettes in Canada was easy, the report revealed, even though it is illegal to sell them to children under 16. Two-thirds of the smoking respondents purchased their own cigarettes from stores.

The study also asked children who had smoked to identify when they had their first cigarette. The majority of boys stated it was by the age of 10, and girls by the time they reached 12. Curiosity was given as the principal reason but the study also found that "30 per cent of the children who smoke mentioned wanting to be like their friends" as the reason for trying the first cigarette.

A total of 1,012 interviews were completed at shopping mall locations in seven centres across Canada: Barrie, Calgary, Halifax, Montreal, Toronto, Vancouver and Winnipeg, to provide coast-to-coast representation. A screening questionnaire was used to determine the eligibility of the respondents.

The child was interviewed alone to reduce the possibility of influence during the interview.

The questionnaire, devised by the CRU London, has been standardized for use internationally but was revised to conform with Canadian terminology.

Fieldwork in Canada was carried out by Contemporary Research Centre under the CRU's supervision.

The Children's Research Unit is a London-based market research company specializing in research with children and young people in the United Kingdom and internationally. It was set up in 1972 by Glen Smith, a child psychologist. CRU has played a leading role in developing the field of children's research in the United Kingdom and abroad, by applying modifications of established clinical procedures for obtaining information from children and young people.

Studies have been conducted in a wide variety of areas such as town planning (play facilities), road safety, career guidance, drug abuse, toys and games, computers and software, magazines and comics, food and drink, TV programs, and advertising in all media. CRU's clients include government units, major manufacturers, advertisers, professional and trade associations, media groups and banks.

Think 'safety' for summertime fun...

In the summertime, many people escape to the cottage for the weekend.

Others pack up the trailer and head out in search of summer fun.

To truly enjoy the season, St. John Ambulance suggests you think safety. An accident, or even a bad sunburn, can really spoil your fun.

Be prepared this summer. Keep two well-equipped first aid kits, one for the cottage or trailer and one for the boat.

St. John Ambulance has pre-packaged modular first aid kits with all the supplies you will need for year-round injuries. The kits are waterproof, dustproof and will float on water. And, because they are modular, you can replace or add supplies as is necessary.

If you would rather "custom-design" your own kit, St. John Ambulance recommends you start with the following basics:

St. John Ambulance first aid manual; six large gauze pressure dressings; cling-type roller bandages (75mm); 12 sterile gauze dressings (75x75mm); 12 sterile gauze dressings (100x100mm); two sterile surgical pads; 36 adhesive strips; six triangular bandages; one box applicators (cotton-tipped); antiseptic soap; sharp needle; scissors (rounded ends, serrated); thermometer; hot and cold packs.

Your first aid kit in the boat needn't be as elaborate. It should include two large gauze pressure dressings, two smaller surgical pads, waterproof adhesive tape, a package of adhesive bandages, two triangular bandages, antiseptic soap, a sharp needle and serrated scissors.

Keep the cottage box in a place where you can get at it quickly and easily. Make sure everyone knows where to find it. Keep the supplies clean and replace them as you use them.

If your cottage or camping spot is on an island or a long way from medical help, you should have a plan for getting an injured person to the nearest source of care. Also know how to get an ambulance to where you are located. You probably don't want to think about it, but you could be glad you did.

For more information on first aid summer safety, contact the nearest branch of St. provincial headquarters at John Ambulance or call the 452-6565.

Fewer young people farming

There are more older Alberta farm operators staying in business and fewer younger farmers coming on stream, according to federal statistics.

In the recently released Census of Agriculture figures, the number of farmers under age 35 in Alberta in June 1986 decreased by 8.8 per cent compared to 1981.

The census shows this is part of a national trend Across Canada the number of farmers under 35 decreased by 17.4 per cent.

Alberta had the smallest percentage of decrease of young farmers in Canada, says the report. In Saskatchewan the number of farmers under age 35 is down 16.3 per cent; in Manitoba the numbers are down 16.1 per cent; in Ontario the numbers are down 21.7 per cent and in Quebec the numbers are down 22.2 per cent.

At the other end of the scale Alberta had one of the highest increases in Canada in the number of farmers over age 35.

The figures show Alberta had a 13.7 per cent increase since 1981 in farmers over age 55, while B.C. had an increase of 13.9 per cent.

Quebec had a 7.6 per cent increase in farmers over age 55, while Saskatchewan had a three per cent increase, Manitoba a 2.1 per cent increase and Ontario a 0.2 per cent increase.

The Maritimes reported the opposite situation. Nova Scotia had a 16.6 per cent decrease in the number of farmers over age 55, while New Brunswick had a 13.3 per cent decrease. Newfoundland an 8.9 per cent decrease and Prince Edward Island a 6.5 per cent decrease.

"Started from scratch, still scratching"

By Donna Hankedal

Stan MacDougall has been an outdoorsman all his life.

At 82 he still loves to hunt, enjoys gardening and has several fruit trees which usually bear well. However, this year the caterpillars took over. Not to be discouraged, he is planning and looking forward to next year.

Stan was born in Edmonton in 1905, a few days before the first CNR train pulled into Edmonton.

His family moved to a homestead along the North Saskatchewan River a couple of years later. The community was later to become known as Burtonsville, downstream from Berrymoor.

Stan's father had a sawmill and used to raft lumber down the river to Edmonton. In 1908 the river flooded and about eight rafts of lumber broke loose and were lost. The high water also forced the family to move.

In the winter of 1913 they sawed lumber where the Cormie Ranch is now and hauled it by horse and sleigh across Low Water and Wabamun Lakes. By this time a train came to Wabamun and it could be shipped by rail from there.

The family received a harsh blow in 1915 when the lumber company Stan's father worked for, and which also held the mortgage to his property, foreclosed on him and took everything they had — farm, sawmill and livestock. They then moved to Stan's brother's homestead.

Although still very young at the time, Stan recalls getting up one morning to discover the house on fire. "I came out and put in my shirt tail and remember seeing a calendar burning on the wall," Stan says. "Someone threw a pail of water and about half of it went on me. I had to get back to bed to get warm. The others put the fire out."

Later, one Easter morning, he was sitting by a window when he saw a shingle come down with smoke trailing from it. The bridge of the house was on fire and there was a strong wind. His mother, two sisters and Stan formed a fire brigade and put it out with pails of water.

His father later managed to buy the old farm back, but in 1918 he died, leaving Stan, his mother and sisters to carry on alone. His older brothers had all left home and one had gone to war.

Stan took his turn going to Duffield for supplies. One one return trip his wagon was loaded down with some windows, cedar shingles as well as groceries. He could see a rain was coming so he spent the night at a farmhouse. The following day he got stuck in a creek. He unloaded his supplies, carried them across, pulled the horses and wagon across, then proceeded to reload. Further along, the road had washed out and he had to make a trail through the bush. "People followed that trail for years after that."

Doris was born in 1907 in England and came to Thorhild in 1918, just before the war ended.

For safety's sake they had blackouts on the ship. One day the passengers were told the crew would be firing to break an iceberg. Three shots were heard and chunks flew off the ice. But after they landed, Doris' stepfather told them they had also fired at a submarine that had been following their ship.

They landed in New York Harbor and had to stay on board that night because of a blackout. The next morning Armistice was declared.

In those days good teachers for country schools were hard to find. Doris quit school when she was 15 and, along with her sister, went to Edmonton where she finished school and became a teacher.

Doris met Stan when she was a boarder at their home and they married in 1934.

Stan and Doris lived on the farm at Burtonsville. Their first year Stan said it froze hard every month except for July. The wheat crop they had counted on didn't produce chicken feed.

Stan and Doris MacDougall celebrated their 53rd wedding anniversary June 19.

Doris became ill during her first pregnancy and had to stay in Edmonton with her mother for two months. Stan says that winter the temperature never got above -30 F for 1½ months. "If it got up to -30 I could haul coal. It was a warm day," Stan remembers. They mined their own coal from the river bank.

When Doris was able to return home Stan went for her is his 1926 Pontiac. Coming across the Indian reserve they couldn't see a sign of the road. About five miles from Duffield they drove into a snow bank as high as the radiator. Doris climbed up on the drift and walked to a farm. The farmer pulled the car to his place with a team of horses.

There they had lunch and warmed themselves. They wrapped hay wire on the tire chains of the car and struck out across country. Roads were blocked. When Stan and Doris arrived at Keephills, they stopped at a friend's and wrapped the chains with more wire. Stan shovelled for a half-mile, moving the car ahead as he went. An hour later a nephew came along and couldn't find the tracks.

"If it wasn't snow drifts, it was mudholes," says Doris.

When their baby was born it was so wet they couldn't get out. Stan went for a neighbor lady to help Doris. The baby girl lived only 10 days.

Daughter Agnes was born in 1939. Doris' sister-in-law came to be with her then.

In 1946 son Kenneth was born. "This time he shipped me to Edmonton. He said 'no more at home'," Doris chuckled. "I always said if the sickness didn't kill you the trip to the doctor would."

In 1969 Stan and Doris went to Winnipeg to visit his sister. "That was our honeymoon," says Doris, "Married in 1934 and in '69 we take our honeymoon."

After almost 40 years on the farm they retired on 10 acres of land north of Drayton Valley. "I started from scratch and we're still scratching," laughs Stan.

Since retirement they have travelled extensively through the United States and Alberta. They have one grandson, living with his parents in Edson where he is completing his Grade 12 this year.

Wildlife '87

Take wildlife trek through provinces

If you enjoy watching wildlife, you'll never have a better excuse for grabbing your binoculars and seeing what Alberta has to offer you in '87!

This year marks the 100th anniversary of wildlife conservation in Canada: the nation's first wildlife sanctuary was established in June 1887 at Last Mountain Lake in Saskatchewan. So 1987 has been officially designated Wildlife '87 to honor Canada's wildlife heritage.

Alberta enjoys a rich natural legacy, so why not join Wildlife '87 celebrations by taking your own wildlife trek through the provinces?

At Cypress Hills Provincial Park in southeastern Alberta, you'll probably be greeted by the sight of white-tail deer and mule deer grazing right in the townsite. Wild turkey, moose, and pronghorn antelope also inhabit this alpine oasis which rises from a sea of prairie to form one of the highest points in mainland Canada east of the Rockies.

Continue your southern explorations at Writing-On-Stone Provincial Park, near the Montana border 40 kilometres east of the town of Milk River. This natural sanctuary for wildlife is home to deer, cottontail rabbits, pronghorn and many other varieties of wildlife.

Watch especially for the yellow-bellied marmot, the largest member of the squirrel family. You may never see this appealing furry animal, which loves to sun on the park's warm sandstone, but you're bound to hear the shrill warning shriek which has earned him the nickname of "the whistler."

Heading to Kananaskis Country, about 70 km west of Calgary, you enter a mountain wilderness home to many of the largest and most magnificent of Alberta's mammals: grizzlies, black bears, cougars, moose and elk.

Start your quest by dropping in to the nearest visitor centre. Park interpreters know where you have the best chance of spotting wildlife on any particular day.

Up in Peter Lougheed Provincial Park, keep your eyes open for mountain goats and bighorn sheep on distant ridges. And don't commit the common mistake of forgetting to watch for smaller creatures too — the park is one of the only places in Alberta inhabited by flying squirrels.

If you continue west into Banff National Park, stop for a short walk on the Fenland Trail just beside the townsite. The trail follows a bend on the Bow River Flats, where you may discover deer, moose, beaver, and a variety of bird life including red-winged blackbirds and ruby-crowned kinglets.

Herds of wapiti, the North American name for elk, are frequently spotted along the stunning Icefields Parkway between Banff and Jasper National Parks. So are bears and moose. As for bighorn sheep, it is difficult not to encounter them on Highway 16 east of Jasper townsite to the park gates.

But don't limit your wildlife trek to Alberta's mountain parks, satisfying as they are. In northern Alberta, special surprises lurk in lesser-known spots.

Peace River Country offers visitors the only accessible place in the province to view trumpeter swans, once a threatened species. These lovely birds can be observed at Saskatoon Island Provincial Park, about 25 km west of Grande Prairie in northwestern Alberta. A telescope and viewing platform are provided.

Lesser Slave Lake Provincial Park is the best place to go to observe black bears — from the security of your car. Beaver habitat can also be viewed from the roadside.

This appealing northern park, which edges one of Alberta's largest lakes, is also inhabited by pelicans, bald eagles, wolves and moose. You might combine your wildlife viewing with a tour along the east side of the lake, which features sand dunes up to six metres high.

Continue on to the northeastern corner of the province, where abundant lakes attract huge bird migrations in spring and fall. Lac la Biche, the largest lake in the area, and Sir Winston Churchill Park are spots most highly recommended by bird-watchers.

To complete your circle tour of Alberta wildlife, veer south to Dinosaur Provincial Park, home of the richest dinosaur beds on the continent. Today, mule deer, white-tail deer, and pronghorn antelope roam the badlands terrain. Watch for blue herons, falcons, eagles and hawks soaring above.

This is really only a beginning to the wildlife viewing pleasures which Alberta has to offer. You could spend a lifetime enjoying them.

All you really need is enthusiasm and some patience — although a pair of binoculars and a good field guide would help immeasureably. Isn't it time you got started?

Penny Test

Pay attention to wear and tear on tires

If your worst nightmare centres around changing a tire: a) in the dark, b) in the rain or c) on a lonely road, you would be wise to start paying attention to any signs of tire wear and tear.

One thing you might experience when driving at higher speeds, is vibration in the steering wheel. Don't ignore it! This vibration will only get worse over time, and if you are not on the lookout specifically for tire problems, you might mistake it for something else and spend money to have the wrong problem "fixed."

Tires are 'bald' when there is less than 1.6 millimetres (1/16") of tread actually left on the tire. But you, yourself, can diagnose whether you're running on bald tires for the cost of only one Canadian penny.

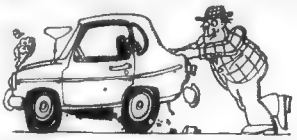
Take out that lucky penny you have in your shoe and perform the "Penny Test" on your tires. Here's how the Penny Test works: place the penny in the groove of your tire with the Queen's head face down. Look sideways at the tire, and if you are able to see her entire crown, the tread is too worn. Don't just put the penny back in your shoe, pay attention to the results of the Penny Test because driving on bald tires is very dangerous. The Consumer Association of Canada, who publishes Canadian Consumer magazine, states that when driving on bald tires the chance of skidding on dry pavement increases 10 times, and the chances of skidding on wet pavement increases 20 times.

There is another surefire test to see if your tires are worn. Tread-wear indicator bands are moulded into treads, and as soon as the tire wears, these bands will become invisible. The Alberta Motor Association's Consumer Information Service Department recommends however, that you replace your tires well before the appearance of the tread-wear bands.

Take care of your tires

If you find that your tires aren't holding up as long as they should, it could be your own fault!

If you are neglecting to check your tire pressure you could be either under or over inflating your tires. Under inflation causes more tread to come into contact with the road. This affects the control of your car and makes it "drag," wasting gas and wearing out your tires. Over inflation causes tire treads to wear the centre of tire tread, making your tires run hard and making them more vulnerable to impact damage.



Check your tire pressure once a month when your tires are cold. AMA Consumer Information Department recommends that you buy and use a hand tire pressure guage of your own. Readings you get from the air pump at your local convenience store probably will not be accurate. Refer to your owner's manual for the recommended inflation for your tires, or check the sticker in your glove compartment or the edge of the driver's door for tire inflation recommendations. Never exceed the tire manufacturer's maximum inflation pressure embossed on your tire's sidewall.

When winter rolls in, be sure to check your tire pressure more than once a month. Tire pressure decreases proportionately as the temperature drops (approximately one pound per square inch for each 10 F (5.6 C) drop in temperature.

Check your owner's manual for the recommended intervals and patterns for tire rotation.

Front tires wear more quickly than rear tires because steering and braking occurs up front. So if you're not replacing all four tires at once, you should at least replace two at a time and put them on the front of your car. (If your car is a front-wheel drive, the front tires will wear out long before the back. On a rear-wheel drive car, the front tires still wear out faster, but more slowly than on a front-wheel drive car.)

When you get new tires put on, have them put on by professionals so you can have them balanced, and at the same time have your mechanic check the front alignment. If your car has independent rear suspensions have that checked too!

Checking your tires for wear and tear and having them regularly rotated can mean the difference between merry miles of motoring, and being stuck changing a flat in the rain. (But keep that lucky penny in your shoe anyway — you never know when it will come in handy!)

Basic guidelines

What does a judge look for at fairs?

A judge is asked to make choices and support these decisions with substantial reasons.

So, what does a judge look for when he/she judges your article in a fair? There are standard basic guidelines for all entries. Let's start with judging standards for food. Each item can receive a maximum of 100 points.

In the general baking category, for example: shape, uniformity and size - 10 points; crust - 10 points; texture - 10 points; crumbs - 10 points (moisture 5, color 5); weight - 20 points; flavor and color - 40 points.

Let's apply this to a cake.

The shape should be evenly risen, level or slightly rounded on top. It should be of medium size, convenient for cutting and serving and the layers should be uniform. The cake should be an even, golden brown with a tender crust. The judges look for a fine, even grain. It should be light and springy when pressed with a finger and, of course, slightly moist.

The flavor and odor of a baked product holds substantial weight. A judge should not be able to detect a decided taste of shortening, egg or flavoring. Rancid nuts is a very common foe in a baked product.

In summary, most baked foods are judged on appearance, texture and flavor.

Judging standards for sewing and handicrafts

Again, this area can be broken down into three major areas: function, design and craftmanship. The first two areas have about a 30-point weight to each and the last area holds a 40-point weight.

Alberta AGRICULTURE

By Bev Broks

With function, judges ask, "Does the article appear to serve its intended use? Are the type and quality of materials suited to the purpose? Is the article finished and ready to use?"

Judges will mark an article down considerably if it is not finished. For example, a hooked rug with raw edges.

Judges also look at the design, shape, color and texture. The type and amount of design needs to be in relationship to the size of the article, type of material and end use. For example, a child's dress, made in a fabric with a very floral pattern is not in proportion to the child's size. A smaller print would be more suitable.

Craftmanship deals with the appropriate choice of materials and techniques. Construction should be uniform and accurate with no obvious errors in technique. A knitted afghan may look beautiful sitting folded, but once it is layed out on a large table it is easy to check for tension problems.

Judges also dock heavily if a project is soiled, wrinkled or stained. Take the time to press, or block, or clean an item before you enter.

If you plan to enter some of your work in a fair this summer, come to my office (district home economist, Alberta Agriculture, Drayton Valley, 542-5368) and ask for the publication Judging Standards for Foods, Sewing and Handicrafts." It lists the standards judges look for in a large variety of specific foods (from bread and buns to wines); as well it lists standards for sewing and handicrafts such as fabric arts, thread arts and general arts.

Grasshopper sightings reported in area

By Gerald Laarhuis

Just when you thought it was safe to venture into the outdoors without the fear of being overcome by forest tent caterpillars, we now have another pest to deal with.

The Alberta Agriculture office in Drayton Valley has been receiving isolated reports of grasshoppers in the Tomahawk-Drayton Valley areas. At this point it is difficult to determine whether or not the outbreaks are serious enough to warrant chemical control.

It is a good idea for farmers to monitor fields, especially waste areas, fencelines and other areas where soil has not been disturbed by signs of the hoppers.

It is much more effective and more economical to spray hoppers when they are in the 1-4 instar stage (1/8-½ inch). When the grasshoppers are still small they are close to their source, most susceptible to an insecticide and do the least damage. Therefore by spraying early you get the best control by spraying the least area. Further, you could be preventing a larger population in following areas.

By Gerald Laarhuis
District Agriculturist

At this point of crop production control is easily achieved with a regular field spray.

It is sometimes difficult to determine whether or not it is economically feasible to spray: as a general rule if upon investigating your field you estimate there are 15-20 hoppers per square yard you should consider control. It's important when doing field inspections (for any pest) that you get on your hands and knees as nymph grasshoppers can go undetected. It is also important to conduct inspections during the warm part of the day while insects are active.

If you do discover grasshoppers and are unsure of what to do, give the Drayton Valley office of Alberta Agriculture a call.

A few quick notes: We have several area farmers who have pasture available for grazing — rates are very reasonable — if you are, or anticipate being short of pasture, give our office a call.

The 57th annual Breton Plots field day will be held Friday, July 3 at the plot site south of Breton. The topics this year will deal with cultivation management on grey-wooded soils. There will also be a tractor adjustment and operating demonstration, showing the effects of ballasting, gear selection and engine speed.

Ovens recalled

Sunbeam Corporation (Canada) Limited and the Canadian Standards Association (CSA) are warning owners of some Sunbeam convection ovens they should stop using them immediately because of a potential shock hazard.

Both Sunbeam and CSA have found a manufacturing error which may result in melting of the insulation of the internal wiring which could lead to the outer surface becoming electrically alive.

Approximately 1,000 units having this potential defect have been distributed across Canada since March 1986.

These convection ovens can be identified by the following markings: Model 4180, 120 VAC 60 Hz 1500 Watts; Sunbeam Corp. (Canada) Ltd. LR 50607 (Date Code) DJ or DL.

Anyone who has one of these convection ovens should stop using it immediately and take or sent it to one of the Sunbeam repair depots.

Better Buy Alberta contest

Grocery shoppers in Drayton Valley will have become acquainted with the local "Be Choosey, Better Buy Alberta" promotion.

This rural Alberta products promotion campaign was organized through the district home economist's office at Alberta Agriculture and the Alberta Food Processors' Association.

Several local farm ladies have assisted by demonstrating and handing out samples of Alberta products at local grocery stores.

Now you have another chance to win a grocery hamper containing about $75 worth of products produced in Alberta with Alberta grown or processed agricultural products.

To enter the contest, clip out the form on this page and write in 10 brand names of makers of food products in this province.

To help, a complete listing of the Alberta Food Processors' membership can be obtained at my office, Alberta Agriculture, Provincial Building, Drayton Valley, phone 542-5368. Feel free to stop by and pick one up. Write the 10 names on the form, fill in your name, address and phone number, clip it out and either bring it to the office or mail to Box 30, Provincial Building, Drayton Valley on or before Tuesday, July 7. A winner will be drawn from all entries received.

Most important though, make it a point to look for and purchase products that are produced right here in Alberta. "Be choosey." Look for the symbol that helps you buy better!

Quartet takes first

The 'En Cors' horn quartet consisting of Laszlo Klein, Susan Klein (formerly Susan Belcher of Drayton Valley), Chris Gongos and Mark Patsula, all from the department of music at the University of Alberta, successfully competed in the Kiwanis Alberta Music Festival against string quartets from Calgary and Lethbridge.

Their rendering of the Hindemith quartet for four horns earned high praise from the adjudicators, together with a prize of $500 and an all expenses paid trip to St. John's Newfoundland to compete in the national festival at the end of the year.

Three days earlier, Susan had graduated from the U of A with the degree bachelor of music.

It is not the first time Klein has been recommended to compete in the Kiwanis National Music Festival.

In 1982 while a student at Frank Maddock high school she was placed first in the solo brass instrument section of the Alberta Music Festival.

Her interest in playing French horn dates from junior high school, when in Grade 8 she received the Darlene Harrison award which enabled her to attend a summer school in music and started her on the path towards a musical career.

Klein plans to specialize in teaching music, and hopes she will be able to impart to her pupils the same enthusiasm for music that she gained from Hank Demarco, her teacher while in Grade 8.

Million more acres were farmed

There are about a million more acres of agricultural land now in use in Alberta compared to 1981, as recorded on the federal Census of Agriculture.

Figures recently released by Statistics Canada show that overall farmland acreage in Alberta has increased by 2.2 per cent, the second largest increase in Canada.

The census conducted in June 1986 shows there were 51.04 million acres of farmland in Alberta compared to 49.93 million in 1981 when the last census was taken.

The increase includes improved land such as cropland, pasture, summerfallow and farmsteads and unimproved land such as woodlands and native pasture.

Newfoundland, at 9.3 per cent, had the highest increase in farmland acreage in Canada. It is noteworthy the increase in Alberta's acreage is about 12 times larger than all the agricultural land in Newfoundland.

The cropland component of total farmland acreage in Alberta increased by 8.5 per cent, according to census figures.

There are 22.641 million acres of cropland in the province used to produce the major cereal and oil crops, special crops and tame hay. The majority of this increase is attributed to more land being brought into production as well as a 3.6 per cent reduction in summerfallow acreage.

By comparison, Saskatchewan had a 13.5 per cent increase in crop land, although a very slight increase in new acreage brought in production. Saskatchewan is farming about 32.92 million acres, with the majority of its increase attributed to a 15.6 per cent reduction in acres held for summerfallow.

Then why not find out first-hand why the 1988 Olympic Winter Games are being touted as the "best ever."

If you're with a group, OCO'88 can make it easy for you.

At least two weeks before you plan to be in Calgary, call 261-5328 and talk to Libby Brooks. She'll plan the itinerary, arrange for access to the venues, supply enough brochures for the whole group and match you up with a suitable volunteer guide. (OCO'88 has guides to fit almost every need. Some specialize in adult tours, others are trained to handle youth tours, and among them they speak 25 different languages.)

To tour all the venues takes a full day — from about 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. To tour the Calgary venues takes between three-and-a-half to four hours. Tour groups have to provide their own transportation, but there is no charge for the guide's services, except to provide him or her with a meal during the all-day tour.

Commercial tours are available from Cardinal Coach Tours (230-2416) and Pacific Western Tours (243-4990). For the full-day tour, rates vary from less than $20 to $27 a person.

If you prefer touring at your own speed, you're welcome to visit the venues on your own.

For most visitors, a tour of Olympic venues begins at the Calgary Olympic Centre in downtown Calgary. You can't miss it. Just follow the pillar-lined walkway into Palliser Square right underneath the Calgary Tower. Call (403) 261-3500.

Money found, quad stolen

Drayton Valley and District CRIME STOPPERS 1-800-922-TIPS

On June '4, a large amount of money was found and turned into the RCMP Detachment.

If anyone has knowledge regarding found money, please contact RCMP, Drayton Valley, 5409 Industrial Road, 542-4456.

******

During the evening hours of April 22, persons unknown stole a red 1985 Suzuki quadrunner from a back alley at 5144-53 St. in Drayton Valley.

The quadrunner is described as a redish orange, electric start, balloon tires with racks in front and back.

Crime Stoppers will pay a cash reward for information leading to the arrest of any of the person(s) responsible for this offence. If you have information on this or any other criminal offence, call CRIME STOPPERS, toll-free, at 1-800-922-TIPS (922-8477). You do not have to reveal your identity, and if your information leads to an arrest, you qualify for a reward.

House of birds

George Hyer loves birds. So much so that since 1971, the bird population in his trailer has multiplied to roughly 300. Included in Hyer's collection are doves, pigeons, budgies, cockatiels, love birds, finches and parrots. Hyer also constructed brightly-colored bird houses outside his trailer to accommodate passers-by. Hyer says he spends $450 a month on bird feed.

In Memoriam

WADDELL, Orvil Herbert

In loving memory of our dear father & grandfather who passed away June 29, 1977.

Days of sadness still come over us,
Tears of silence often flow
For memories keep you ever near us,
Though you died 10 years ago,
No pen can write,
No tongue can tell our sad and heavy loss.

Ever remembered & sadly missed
by his daughters Edith & Maureen and families

GRAYSON, George

In loving memory of a dear husband & father who passed away June 23, 1986. You will always be remembered & never forgotten.

Jo, Rick, Janet & Garry

GRAYSON - In loving memory of George, brother & uncle, who passed away June 23, 1986.

However long our lives may last,
Whatever lands we view,
Whatever joy or grief be ours,
We will always think of you.

Remembered always by John, Carmen, Phillip & Pamela

WATER RESOURCES ACT
GROUND WATER DIVERSION

Dome Petroleum Limited has obtained an Exploration Permit to make necessary examinations and surveys under the Water Resources Act to determine the feasibility of diverting a possible maximum of 22,000 Canadian gallons of water per day (30 acre-feet per annum) from a well(s) on the SW 4-47-9-W5 for Industrial (Injection) purposes. The depth interval to be investigated is from 100 feet to 300 feet.

Notice is hereby given that should the examinations and surveys prove successful application and plans will be filed under provisions of the Water Resources Act for a licence to construct the necessary works to divert water in the amount stipulated above.

Any person having a bona fide interest in the matter may file objections with the Controller of Water Resources, Alberta Environment, Oxbridge Place, Edmonton on or before the 23rd day of July, 1987.

Laczo-Patten exchange vows June 13

By LeOpal L[illegible]

The Winfield kindergarten would like to thank the Alder Flats-Buck Lake ECS for all the support given during the year. Taking some field trips together helped the Winfield kindergarten socially and financially.

Congratulations to Patricia and Bernie Brunsch on the birth of a son, Christopher, Feb. 24. Proud grandparents are John and Olga Adams and Mr. and Mrs. Casey.

Former students and their families numbering about 165 took in the Maywood school reunion June 6. Former students each received a sketch of the school. A painting was auctioned off with Jack Goodkey purchasing it for $925. And Hector Letourneau won the school house, made by Liz and Marvin Long, offered in a draw.

Sympathy is extended to relatives and friends on the death of Edmond Forsythe June 5 in the Drayton Valley hospital at the age of 79. Funeral services were held June 9 at the Buck Lake Hall.

Shelley Rees completed her hairdressing course at the Marvel School of hairdressing in Red Deer in May and will be apprenticing at Sylvan Lake in June.

Minnie Olberg is proud of her first great-grandchild, a baby girl born to Melissa Rae in Edmonton May 11. Her name is Courtney.

Recent visitors with Edith Pobuda were Carol and Ossie Rees and John and Connie Krysta.

Karen Krysta and Edith Pobuda enjoyed six days in B.C. with stops at Radium Hot Springs, Ainsworth Hot Springs, Penticton and Vernon.

Minnie Olberg attended the Tribute to Senior Citizens celebration in the Winfield Lodge June 14. She reports a lot of work was put into making the afternoon very worthwhile.

Congratulations to Geraldine Laczo and Rory Patten who were married June 13 in a ceremony on her parents' lawn. Maid of honor was Peggy Miller with bridesmaids Roxanne Yarkowsky, Theresa Cartier and junior bridesmaid Melissa Laczo. Sheena Patten was flowergirl. Stewart Hare was best man along with groomsmen Tony and Brant Laczo. Junior groomsman was Shawn Harden and Ryan Laczo was ring bearer.

The bride and groom toured the Laczo yard in a horse-drawn carriage for pictures, then travelled with the wedding party in Allen Ankerstein's motorhome to the reception and dance held at the Buck Lake Hall.

Alberta shows lowest decrease in farm numbers

There has been a slight reduction in the number of farms in Alberta over the last five years, according to information recently released by Statistics Canada.

Information collected from the June 1986 Census of Agriculture shows there are 57,777 farms in Alberta, a drop of 0.5 per cent from the last census in 1981. Six years ago there were 58,056 farms in the province.

Alberta's decrease in farm numbers is low compared to other jurisdictions. Newfoundland reported a decrease of 4.1 per cent, while Nova Scotia had the largest decrease in farm numbers of 15.1 per cent.

Looking at the figures in more detail, the number of family farms in Alberta has decreased by 4.6 per cent since 1981.

Alberta Agriculture statisticians say the decrease is the lowest in Canada. There were 47,862 family farms in Alberta reported in the 1986 census, a drop of 2,307 from 1981.

Nithi Govindasamy, assistant head of the department's statistics branch, says the decrease does not mean a loss of 2,307 farms but reflects a change in the class of ownership. He says a large part of the decrease means farms changed from individual ownership to partnerships or corporations.

Comparing Alberta's 4.6 per cent decrease across the country, Saskatchewan had an 8.7 per cent drop or 5,193 reduction in the number of family farms; Manitoba had an 11 per cent or 2,832 family farm reduction; B.C. had an 11.8 per cent drop, or 1,903 family farm reduction; Ontario had a 17.1 per cent drop, or an 11,702 family farm reduction; while Quebec had a 20.4 per cent drop or a 6,477 family farm reduction.
